

CONTENTS

VOL. 48, NO. 4

DECEMBER 2008

EDITORIAL	Memo to Marketers: China Lives Geoffrey Precourt	475
	Management Slant	478
	THE CHALLENGE OF CHINA
VIEWPOINT	The Language of Chopsticks Jing Wang	481
ARTICLES	How Far Is Too Far? The Antecedents of Offensive Advertising in Modern China Gerard Prendergast, Wah-leung Cheung, and Douglas West	484
	Wired China: The Power of the World's Largest Internet Population Cate Riegner	496
	Tradition Meets Technology: Can Mass Customization Succeed in China? Kun Song and Ann Marie Fiore	506
	Luck of the Draw: Creating Chinese Brand Names William Li Chang and Peirchyi Lii	523
<hr/>
	Integrated Marketing Communication: Practice Leads Theory Philip J. Kitchen, Ilchul Kim, and Don E. Schultz	531
	How Green Should You Be: Can Environmental Associations Enhance Brand Performance? Francisco Javier Montoro-Rios, Teodoro Luque-Martínez, and Miguel-Angel Rodríguez-Molina	547
	Endorsement Theory: How Consumers Relate to Celebrity Models Roger Marshall, WoonBong Na, Gabriel State, and Sonali Deuskar	564
	Endorsement Practice: How Agencies Select Spokespeople B. Zafer Erdogan and Tanya Drollinger	573
	Learning from Winners: How Research Drove a New Model for the Automotive Industry Raymond Pettit	583
BOOK REVIEW	Review of How Public Service Advertising Works Ruth Wooden	591