

Journal of Advertising Research

September 2020 | Volume 60 | Issue 3

EDITOR'S DESK

60 Robust Years of Advertising Research, and Counting

John B. Ford 237

ARTICLES

The Myth of Targeting Small, but Loyal Niche Audiences: Double-Jeopardy Effects in Digital-Media Consumption

Harsh Taneja 239

Why Do People Choose to Multitask with Media?

The Dimensions of Polychronicity as Drivers of Multiple Media Use—A User Typology

Helen R. Robinson and Stavros P. Kalafatis 251

How Do Generational Differences Drive Response to Social-Issue Ads?

The Effect of Value Orientations across Generations in the U.S.

Yoon-Joo Lee and Eric Haley 271

Managerial–Consumer Eco-Harmful Media Perceptions and Eco-Conscious Attitudes:

Understanding the Context within Green Media

Claudia A. Rademaker, Marla Royne Stafford, and Mikael Andréhn 290

The Relationship between Competitive Pricing and Direct-to-Consumer Advertising:

How to Manage DTC Advertising of Rx Drugs in an Integrated Marketing Mix Strategy

Abhik Roy and Mary E. Schramm 305

Quantifying the Advertising-Creativity Assessments of Consumers versus Advertising

Professionals: Does It Matter Whom You Ask?

Erik Modig and Micael Dahlen 324

Do Your Ads Talk Too Fast To Your Audio Audience?

How Speech Rates of Audio Commercials Influence Cognitive and Physiological Outcomes

Emma Rodero 337